DESIGN OF THE SCHOOL.

THE Legislature, by an act passed May 16, 1870, made instruction in drawing obligatory in the public day schools, and required cities and towns containing more than ten thousand inhabitants to make provisions for free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. It was soon found impossible to realize satisfactorily the benefits intended by this act, for want of competent teachers. A resolve was therefore passed by the Legislature in 1873 providing for the establishment of a State Normal Art School.

Its purpose is to train teachers and supervisors of industrial art. To this end it provides advanced courses in free-hand and instrumental drawing, painting and modelling, and their applications to industry.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

Class A embraces elementary drawing; Class B, drawing, painting and design; Class C, the constructive arts, design and shop work; and Class D, modelling and design. There is also a special class in applied design. The Public School Class is devoted to methods of teaching and supervising drawing, with special reference to the public schools.

TIME ALLOTTED TO THE COURSES.

The first course requires four years. It embraces the work of classes A and B and the elementary course of C and D, followed by a year in the Public School Class.

The second course requires four years. It embraces the work of classes A, B and D, with normal instruction from the teachers of those classes.

The third course requires three years. It embraces the work of Class A and the elementary and advanced work of Class C, with normal instruction from the teachers of those classes.

Students completing the work of Class A may choose one or more of the courses offered by the school.

Special Class in Applied Design.

Only students who have performed the work required in classes A, B and D, or A and C, will be eligible to enter this class.

LECTURES.

Class lectures are given each year on the history of art, on design, anatomy and perspective. A special course of lectures will be given during the first term by members of the faculty. All students are required to attend them.
